Parents will be called to bring appropriate clothing if their child arrives at school dressed inappropriately.

Standing dress down days are three times per year. They are the last day of school before Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter/Spring breaks. Additionally, students may dress down for their birthday with no charge. Students with summer birthdays may dress down on their half birthday. Occasionally, other dress down days are earned as a special token of appreciation from administrators. Students will receive a dress down pass for individual awards or an email pass to parents for whole class dress downs.

Dress up days are typically reserved for special occasions such as certain feast days or holy days. Dress up days may also be assigned for picture days. T-shirts, shorts, and sweatpants are not permitted on dress up days.
